INTRODUCTION

Astrolocality Maps are a method for quickly assessing certain features of your horoscope if you are considering a visit or move to anywhere in the world other than your birthplace. Because your horoscope changes when you change residence, certain planets will be in higher focus than others in different parts of the world. "Focus" in a horoscope is determined in this instance by planets conjuncting (or forming other aspects to) the four angles (Ascendant, Midheaven, Descendant and IC) of the horoscope.

Each of these angles is associated with certain general areas in your life. Following are some key words for the four angles.

Ascendant: self-expression, identity, appearance, personal action, natural drive, sense of self, physical energy and assertion.

Midheaven: career, status, drive for power, worldly ambitions, contribution to society, public life, authority figures and reputation.

Descendant: partners, other people, close associates, qualities you face in relationships, desire for balance and harmony, aesthetic instincts.

IC: home, family, nurturing figures, dependency needs, domestic environment, caretaking instincts, compassion, emotional base.

If you ordered the "work" interpretation, this report will interpret planets aspecting your Midheaven in Astrolocality. If you ordered the "self" interpretation, this report will analyze the planets aspecting your ASCENDANT in Astrolocality. If you ordered the "home" interpretation, this report will discuss planets aspecting your IC in Astrolocality, while "relationship" interpretations look at planets aspecting the DESCENDANT.

In addition, this report lists any major cities which are near a line of planetary focus. (A planetary focus can be seen as radiating out from that planet's line on the Astrolocality Map. Thus, it is not limited to only one city, but will encompass an area running around 75 miles on each side of the planetary line.)

Your natal chart is very important. If you put a planet in high focus which has many tension aspects in your natal horoscope, you are likely to face challenges and have to work to integrate the themes and issues of that planet (but may build strong mental, emotional and spiritual muscles in that regard). If, on the other hand, you put a planet in high focus which has many harmony aspects in your horoscope, you are likely to find matters flowing more smoothly (but could sometimes overdo or be excessive). Thus, this report will also note if any of the planets connected to your focus area of choice are VERY harmoniously or VERY challengingly configured in your natal (birth) horoscope.

Remember that there is no such thing as a "perfect" or "ideal" horoscope. Every horoscope has a mixture of positive and negative (or easy and challenging) patterns. And, tension is a part of life. If we had no friction, we wouldn't grow and develop! So, in questions of relocation, you are dealing with issues of priority. You must decide what is most important to you. (You have done so in this report by ordering a focus on love, work, self, or home.) And, you must decide where you want more harmony, and where you are willing to work with some challenges. (The planetary aspects will help reveal that.)

An Astrolocality Map is used primarily for an overview, however, to gain a sense of areas which might be of interest to you. If you are seriously considering a move, you should look at your actual Relocation Chart (your whole horoscope) for the city to which you are considering relocating. It will give you more detail about the strengths and weaknesses of your horoscope in that location.

The Sun is conjunct the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Tashkent, USSR; Kabul, Afghanistan; Hyderabad, Pakistan; Karachi, Pakistan.

Your self-esteem is tied to your sense of authority and your handling of reality and responsibilities here. You may take pride in (or be ashamed of) your authority, power role or practicality. You will feel most energized when in charge, authoritative, realistic and sensible.

You can be a highly creative leader. You may take risks in your dealing with authority figures. You could get involved with charismatic (or egotistical) bosses or be a dynamic, magnetic leader yourself. Love and playfulness may bring you authority (or you may try to dominate loved ones). You can play with power (be fun-loving as an authority).

Your career aspirations are mixed with your self-esteem. You may be proud (or ashamed of) your career, but feel revitalized when shining through your work. Your inner child (playful, fun-loving spirit) can advance your career aspirations.

Creative careers are appropriate in this area. You need to be a star on the job and to get excitement in your work. You can turn work into play, or work in fields of recreation. You may be willing to speculate in or for your career and will take risks in developing your expertise.

Your status affects your self-esteem. You want to be proud of your place in society and will feel most vital and alive when in a high position.

The Moon is conjunct the Midheaven.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

You may find security in being an authority here, or in having power and status, yet you can feel vulnerable as an authority. (This position can denote the Earth Mother--or the professional baby.) You might take care of others as a way of taking charge. You may be receptive to authority figures or find safety in power. You may be emotional in your focus on reality, or realistic about feelings. You could seek security through being grounded and pragmatic. You probably feel safest with the known, the habitual, the familiar.

You want to nurture responsibly. You can be a practical caretaker. You may make a career out of nurturing or be a "mother of the world" type in your profession. You can be sensible about dependency needs, yet could feel torn between home and career demands. Your profession could involve women, the home, land, commodities, emotions, food, shelter clothing or basic security while in this area.

Mercury is conjunct the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Tashkent, USSR; Kabul, Afghanistan; Hyderabad, Pakistan.

You may seek authority through communication, in your communications. Your ambitions could center around your mind and/or tongue. Listening or talking could become power issues in this area. You can be authoritatively logical (and logically authoritative). Your status may be tied to your capacity to learn. Thinking could be a form of power for you. You may be somewhat critical of your thinking or communicating abilities. You are likely to pursue concepts that are useful and applicable to the real world.

Your career aspirations may encompass listening, talking, or dexterity. Your vocation could involve information-gathering skills or communication. Your communications may center around professional or realistic matters. You can gather practical information. Relatives could be involved in your work. You need mental stimulation and variety in your work. (Job-hopping is possible if you are not in a field with enough change and intellectual challenges.) You can be adaptable and flexible in your career and in your perceptions of reality. Commerce, business, media, paperwork or the mind will be central to your vocation.

Venus is conjunct the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Calcutta, India; Kathmandu, Nepal.

You may find pleasure in authority or power. Power could give you a sense of comfort or ease. You may seek power through grace, beauty, diplomacy or sweetness. Rules, regulations, and structure may give you a sense of comfort or stability. You are likely to enjoy status, to like being at the top. You may gain status through relationships.

You may look to your work for pleasure. Your career might involve sensuality. You may want a comfortable and/or easy job. Your career could involve beauty or money. Your vocational aspirations are probably tied to an urge for stability, predictability, grace, harmony or gratification.

You can be practical about pleasures. You are working on the balance between effort and ease and might sometimes inhibit your pleasures (feeling you don't deserve to relax or haven't "earned" it yet) or expect work to be consistently gratifying and easy. With integration, you can enjoy what you do, finding gratification in creating tangible results as well as enjoying the sensual, financial and material world.

Venus is sextile the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Al-ubayyid, Sudan; Alexandria, Egypt; Istanbul, Turkey.

Your desire for pleasure may contribute to your achievement of ambitions. Beauty skills may assist your vocational aspirations. Women could contribute to your career efforts or status. Your sensuality or pleasure-seeking might further your career. Material goods and resources may support your career efforts. Authorities may assist you financially. Sweetness can enhance your authority or increase your status.

Your career aspirations may contribute to your comfort or ease. You can be realistic in regard to pleasure-seeking, but are apt to seek tangible measurements of success (material goodies). You can be practical about money. Your desire for comfort could contribute to your realism, although you may sometimes prefer being laid-back to laboring.

Authority or authority figures could feed your drive for pleasure. Your desire for stability/predictability may strengthen your drive for power. You may enjoy high status or seek the "good things" of life. Talent for tangible beauty could raise your status. Good financial prospects are possible in your career. Partners might assist your career or contribute to your position in society.

Mars is conjunct the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Mecca, Saudi Arabia; Medina, Saudi Arabia; Asmera, Ethiopia.

You can assert your authority directly and forthrightly, and probably feel a drive for power here. You may confront or anger authorities. You are apt to be ambitious in this area and may be impatient with regard to power issues. You will tend to express yourself where issues of responsibility and reality-testing are concerned. You instinctively seek status.

You need a career where you can do your own thing (be on your own). You can be extremely energetic on the job, but may be impatient of limits. You could work with weapons, force, the military, the outdoors or anything requiring independence of action, pioneering spirit or physical activity.

You can be instinctively realistic and practical here, but are working on the blend between self-will and societal duties and demands. One extreme is feeling blocked, inhibited, afraid to try for fear of frustration or not measuring up. The other extreme is trying to take everything on your shoulders, pushing the world around, believing you have a right to whatever you want. A happy medium is assertive accomplishment, where you confidently seek what you want within the "rules of the game" (the physical and social boundaries of the world). You are capable of achieving a great deal in this area.

Jupiter is conjunct the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Agra, India; Bangalore, India; Delhi, India; Alma-ata, USSR.

You can be quite authoritative about ideals, goals and ethics. Authorities may influence your philosophy, religion or world view. You may place your faith in authority (power), or idealize status, control or expertise. You will have an instinct for making the most of your opportunities in this area.

You might pursue the truth professionally. You can be quite optimistic in your career goals, and may seek expanded horizons. Your contribution to the world may involve beliefs, values, ethics or principles. Your vocational could include education, philosophy, publishing, the law, travel, foreign cultures or anything mind-expanding or on a LARGE scale.

You might seek the perfect job (and be a job-hopper, hoping the next one will be ideal), try to do your work perfectly (never making a mistake), work to make a more ideal world, or believe in the work ethic. You are learning to balance the real and the ideal and optimism and pessimism. The challenge is neither to expect the impossible, nor to give up too soon on your dreams. Breaking your aspirations into smaller steps will help you to actualize your visions in a practical form.

Saturn is opposite the Midheaven.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

This suggests meeting reality rather than nurturing. You are likely to rework old, familial (and familiar) issues about competence, support, and responsibility that go back to your family's attitudes when you were young. The emotional tone is very serious and cautious here. Emotional and physical security are important. You may hold back emotionally for fear of not getting the support you feel you need. This combination emphasizes a parenting theme and it is essential for you to be able to BE taken care of as well as caring for others (taking turns nurturing and being nurtured).

Your emotional foundation and sense of adequacy are tied to a career or position in the community. Your professional role may affect your family situation (or you could work from your home, in a family business, with real estate, the land, the public, nurturing, etc.). You might feel pulled in two different career directions, or be unsure what profession you are willing to settle into. Perhaps you are ambivalent about taking an executive role or feel at odds with authorities. You might overdo or underdo your desire to solidify gains. Time management and responsibility (taking on too much or too little) could be career challenges. You may swing between too much and too little effort until you learn to balance.

You are apt to be very responsible toward family members now and may sometimes carry more than your share of the load. Your challenge is to balance work and home, dominance and dependency, compassion and realism, protecting and being protected.

Saturn is trine the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Bucharest, Romania.

Your sense of responsibility can contribute to your career. Your practicality can be a vocational asset. Your willingness to learn through doing may assist your career. Your executive instincts may further your work accomplishments. Your discipline and willingness to work assist your career development. Your ability to understand essential limits can contribute to your work. Authorities may assist your vocational ambitions. You can plan well to work your way to the top.

Your pragmatism may help you in your status ambitions. Your sense of responsibility can help you gain power and control in the world. Your power drive can contribute to your worldly attainments. You have a good sense of when to consolidate your gains. You learn well through apprenticeship and experience. You appreciate tangible results and focus on accomplishment. You are more sensible, grounded, dedicated and dutiful in this area. You work well in systems, structures and orderly situations.

Uranus is conjunct the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Riyadh, Saudi Arabia; Tabriz, Iran; Aden, Yemen; Tbilisi, USSR; Hargeysa, Somalia.

You need a career that is individualistic in this area. You are apt to seek variety in your work and function best under conditions of freedom and openness. (If these are lacking, you may change jobs or quit or getting fired.) You may be drawn to a humanitarian or new age profession. Your work could involve a future orientation or new technology/ideas. Either the field you work in, your hours, your setting, your boss or other circumstances should be unusual, different or unique. Nonstandard vocational situations have more appeal to you here.

Authorities with whom you deal may seem eccentric or erratic. You can be unconventional in your approach to the outer world and societal rules and regulations. You might be detached or objective about your responsibilities. Your status may be different or unusual in some way. For you, in this place, power lies in freedom and independence.

Neptune is conjunct the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Chittagong, Bangladesh.

You may be drawn to fields involving art, compassion, or escapism. You may deal with liquids, the infinitely small, or the boundlessly large. You could be a professional rescuer, artist or victim. You are likely to put your imagination to work here. Your sense of reality has mystical or magical overtones in this area.

You can blend the ideal and the real. You may seek a literal experience of infinity, of cosmic consciousness. You may want more than is possible vocationally. You could seek the ideal job (that doesn't exist) and drift from one place to another, seeking a dream. You could try to be perfect and never make a mistake in what you do. You might work to make a more perfect world (through helping and healing professions) or a more beautiful world (through art and aesthetics).

You may seek power through Oneness, through transcendent experiences. Authorities may appear idealistic, mystical, confused, compassionate, escapist or deceptive. Your status may be romanticized, idealized, hazy or unclear. Your job is to bring dreams into being.

Neptune is sextile the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Amman, Jordan; Beirut, Lebanon; Jerusalem, Israel; Tel Aviv, Israel.

Art, beauty, magic, inspiration or dreams could assist you vocationally. Visualization and imagination can help your career. Intuition may assist your practical accomplishments. Your compassionate, caring, rescuing side may contribute to your work. A desire to help and heal may augment your professional role.

Your mystical side may harmonize with the powers that be. Authorities may aid your quest for infinite love and beauty. Authority figures could contribute to your faith or trust in the best. Your status could be aided by your capacity to dream or your ability to merge and transcend. Your seeking of power may be directed toward experiences of Oneness or Union.

You know when to control and when to go with the flow. You can combine practical demands and romantic hopes, idealism and realism. Your Inner Wisdom can enhance your handling of physical reality. You can blend inspiration and perspiration, harnessing compassion with responsible productivity to help make dreams come true.

Pluto is conjunct the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Amman, Jordan; Beirut, Lebanon; Jerusalem, Israel; Tel Aviv, Israel; Khartoum, Sudan; Port Said, Egypt.

You are likely to exhibit an intense drive for power, and being in control (of self and/or others) may be very important here. Your forceful, competitive side could be constructively channeled into business, law enforcement, the military, sports, games, politics or professions involving physical manipulation (e.g., chiropractic, massage). If you are uncomfortable with your power-oriented side (often because a parent abused power), you may unconsciously attract authorities who are dominating, manipulative and dictatorial--until you reclaim your own power, mastery, and control in constructive uses.

You are capable of tremendous self-discipline and self-control and might limit your sensuality to gain a sense of self-mastery. You can be practical about sensual and sexual needs. You are working on the challenge of having enough control without too much. Addictions, excessive self-denial, or letting go might be difficult for you until you achieve a balance between self-indulgence and self-control.

You may be drawn to careers involving shared finances or resources and could get involved in business partnerships. You have more organizational skills and a talent for the financial world in this area. Your career ambitions may include a probing, investigative approach.

Pluto is sextile the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Chittagong, Bangladesh.

Your intensity may assist your career ambitions. Your organizational skills could aid your professional development. You could have excellent abilities in the business world and in research. Mates or partners may further your work in the world. Your self-discipline and self-control can be vocational assets. You may have an instinct for nuances, shades of meaning, and nonverbal cues. You could be a skilled negotiator and bargainer (perhaps even to the point of manipulation or emotional blackmail). You may have talent for working with money and investments.

Your probing instincts could enhance your authority and power. Authorities may feed your confrontational skills, although you are likely to have a natural desire for power. Mentors may encourage you to dig beneath the surface. Your intuitive grasp of people's motives could help you to achieve a position of power, authority or competence.

You want to build things to LAST here. You tend to have good endurance and followthrough, coping well in difficult situations. You can be more thorough, purposeful, organized and loyal here. Your practicality can enhance your dealing with shared resources and pleasures in this region.

Chiron is opposite the Midheaven.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

You may place a high value on home and family, yet simultaneously have the urge to leave home periodically for far horizons. You could take trips regularly, live on the road, have a communal household with many different people coming and going, or live in a foreign country. Mental stimulation, unusual people or provocative discussions may be important to you. It could be a challenge to fit your beliefs and principles into society's demands.

The urge to go beyond known boundaries may pull you away from conventional success, or your desire to take risks could separate you from authorities and positions of authority. It may seem difficult to get enough variety and mental challenges at work. Your idealistic visions may seem to work better in the home than in the vocational world; the challenge is to integrate your aspirations in both arenas.

Ceres is opposite the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Herat, Afghanistan.

You are learning to balance caring and hard-nosed realism in this region. You might swing from being supernurturing to ultrapractical. A parenting archetype is highlighted; you might tend to play the caretaking role constantly, or seek someone to look after and parent you. You might work out of your home, make your home your vocation, bounce between family and career demands, or work in a family business. Your security lies in being efficient and productive; you can be quite practical and helpful.

You may allow a need to serve to overwhelm your good sense. You could do too much for others, especially if you succumb to the feeling that no one else will do things as well as you do. (The opposite extreme is seeking someone to be totally supportive of you.) With a probable talent for repairs, improvements and fixing things up, a focus on health and healing might be quite important in your home (and in your life). You can be quite organized and thorough.

Pallas is square the Midheaven.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

Love needs may conflict with work demands. Equalitarian instincts may be at odds with the desire for control. Duty may vie with relaxation. Authorities may seem at odds with fair play/justice. Worldly demands may compete with your desire for balance. You may feel torn between doing and observing. You may feel uncomfortable at trying to keep up appearances. You may compare and contrast too much, putting off decisive action.

You may feel torn between having a career and a relationship. Worldly ambitions might pull you away from artistic interests (and vice versa). A partner may seem to separate you from your work (or vice versa). A partner or partnership may pull you from a parent or parenting duties (and vice versa). Effort may vie with ease. Aesthetic interests may not seem compatible with practical necessities until you make a place in life for both. You may feel torn between firm, solid answers and weighing alternatives; sometimes one is more appropriate than the other. You are learning to blend firm control and authority with equalitarian, accepting attitudes.

Pallas is trine the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Mashhad, Iran.

Your sense of fair play may assist your career. Your aesthetic ability could aid your vocational aspirations. Your competitive spirit might further your success. Your capacity to compare and contrast could enhance your work in this area.

Your reality quotient might assist your artistic endeavors here. Your practicality might enhance your relationships. Your ability to understand the limits might support your quest for balance. You may feel comfortable keeping up appearances. Authorities may assist your social contacts.

Your relationships may support your career. You know when to be an equal and when to take charge. A partner may contribute to your success. Authorities may help you to share.

You can be artistic as well as practical. You know when to think/observe and when to act/accomplish. You can balance work duties and love needs. Your sense of fair play can help you deal sensibly with the world.

Juno is opposite the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Calcutta, India.

Emotional commitments may represent security to you and the drive for partnership is highlighted here (forming one or deepening an existing one). You may be very attached to family. You are learning to balance equalitarian instincts and parental drives, along with compromising between emotions and common sense.

You may be very artistic in your home environment, but could feel that aesthetic involvements pull you from worldly success. Competitive interactions or power struggles may affect your domestic life. Perhaps your desire for authority or the power needs of others seem incompatible with sharing resources fairly. Joint finances could affect your career aspirations. A mate or spouse may influence your ambitions. You might feel that emotional commitments pull you away from career demands (or vice versa). You are learning to balance your needs for love and work.

Juno is trine the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Al-ubayyid, Sudan; Alexandria, Egypt.

Your emotional intensity may assist your career. Your aesthetic ability could aid your vocational aspirations. Your relationship(s) might contribute to your success. Your competitive spirit might further your achievements. Your ability to look beneath the surface could enhance your work.

Your reality quotient might assist your artistic endeavors. Your practicality might enhance your relationships. Your ability to understand the limits might support your quest for intimacy. You may be motivated to keep up appearances (look good). Authorities might further your social contacts.

You know when to be an equal and when to take charge. Partners may contribute to your work. Authorities may help you to share resources and/or finances. You know when to be sensible and when to deal with intense emotions. Your intimacy instincts can help you be successful in the working world. Joint financial involvements may help you to be more practical. You can balance love needs and work duties.

Vesta is conjunct the Midheaven.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Kabul, Afghanistan; Hyderabad, Pakistan; Karachi, Pakistan.

You have the capacity for single-minded focus on success, but could also succumb to tunnel vision, sacrificing too much for desired end results. This area highlights responsibility, hard work, and a desire for tangible results from what you do.

Your career might involve health or healing. You could have skills in science, business or any detail-oriented work. You may have organizational abilities. You can be more efficient, productive and practical here. You could fall into nitpicking or supercritical tendencies as you are oriented to fix, repair, and improve situations and people. You may do more than your share on the job, feeling you "need" to work, or not trusting others to do things correctly or well enough.

Your health is closely connected to your work here. If you feel like a good craftsman, taking pride in what you do and how you do it, you are likely to be healthy. If you are frustrated by your work, or feel you cannot do a good enough job, the stress is likely to affect your health. It is imperative that you feel you can make a useful contribution to the world. You will be healthiest when feeling productive.

The following cities are near the most harmony aspect lines: Al-ubayyid, Sudan and Alexandria, Egypt.

No city is near more than one conflict aspect line.

Venus has conflict aspects to 3 planets in your natal chart: Saturn, Pallas and Juno.

Saturn has conflict aspects to 3 planets in your natal chart: Venus, Mars and Pallas.

Neptune has conflict aspects to 4 planets in your natal chart: Ceres, Pallas, Juno and Node.

Pluto has conflict aspects to 4 planets in your natal chart: Jupiter, Ceres, Pallas and Node.

Chiron has conflict aspects to 5 planets in your natal chart: The Sun, Mercury, Mars, Uranus and Vesta.

Ceres has conflict aspects to 5 planets in your natal chart: The Sun, The Moon, Neptune, Pluto and Vesta.

Pallas has conflict aspects to 6 planets in your natal chart: Venus, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune, Pluto and Juno.

Juno has conflict aspects to 4 planets in your natal chart: The Moon, Venus, Neptune and Pallas.

The Sun is opposite the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Tashkent, USSR; Kabul, Afghanistan; Hyderabad, Pakistan; Karachi, Pakistan.

Your self-esteem is tied to your sense of authority and your handling of reality and responsibilities here. You may take pride in (or be ashamed of) your authority, power role or practicality. You will feel most energized when in charge, authoritative, realistic and sensible. Your need to shine may pull you away from domestic duties. You may feel "buried" in the home with a strong urge to get out and be noticed in the world. Although love is important, you want recognition or the opportunity to be creative in this area.

Your sense of drama, magnetism and charisma is highlighted here, but you may find it challenging to get the kind of excitement you desire within the family environment. You may be tempted to try to dominate loved ones, or sway them with your dynamism and flair. You can play with power (be fun-loving as an authority), and are working on the balance between frolic and focused effort. You may also feel torn between security drives and your desire to take risks for a greater gain.

You are more sensitive to your status. You want to be proud of your place in society and look to your family to support your ambitions. Mutual encouragement among family members is particularly vital here. You need to be convinced you are behind one another 100%. With loving praise and encouragement, you can help each other achieve greater heights.

The Moon is opposite the IC.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

You may find security in being an authority here, or in having power and status, yet you can feel vulnerable as an authority. (This position can denote the tendency to nurture everyone, to try to take care of everyone around you--or tremendous dependency needs.) You might take care of others as a way of taking charge. You may be receptive to authority figures or find safety in power. You are likely to be emotional in your focus on reality, or realistic about feelings. You could seek security through being grounded and pragmatic. You probably feel safest with the known, the habitual, the familiar.

You want to nurture responsibly. You can be a practical caretaker. You may make a career out of nurturing or be a "mother of the world" type in your profession. You can be sensible about dependency needs, yet could feel torn between home and career demands. Your profession could involve women, the home, land, commodities, emotions, food, shelter clothing or basic security while in this area, or you might turn domestic duties into a career by making your family your vocational priority. Working out of the home is also possible. You need your home to be organized and sensible. It is important that efforts be equally shared by family members. It would be easy for one person to carry more than their fair share of the load. Develop a sense of teamwork within the family, where everyone is willing to pitch in, help out and be mutually supportive.

You will need to face reality about your home in this area. This can include being practical about your responsibilities to family members--neither taking on everything nor avoiding it. Common sense is in everybody's best interests. You may be sensitive to your family's impact on your status, become more interested in your roots, or become more aware of family traditions. You are learning to keep the best from the past in creating a better future.

Mercury is opposite the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Tashkent, USSR; Kabul, Afghanistan; Hyderabad, Pakistan.

You may seek authority through communication, in your communications. Your ambitions could center around your mind and/or tongue. Listening or talking could become power issues in this area. There may be an imbalance in your home between who listens and who talks; work for equality. Logic or objectivity may seem to separate you, at times, from family members. Don't put your feelings at odds with your mind, but do be willing to combine rationality and emotions. Perhaps you feel torn sometimes between saying something versus protecting someone's feelings. Sensitivity is important, but keep the channels of communication open with family members.

You can be authoritatively logical (and logically authoritative). Thinking could be a form of power for you and you might be somewhat critical in your thinking or communicating. (Don't judge those you love too harshly.) You need to learn, to share information, and to perceive widely in the world. Your restless mind may sometimes pull you away from domestic duties, but then you can bring back ideas, knowledge and fascinating concepts to share with family members.

Venus is opposite the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Calcutta, India; Kathmandu, Nepal.

You may find pleasure in authority or power. Power could give you a sense of comfort or ease. You may seek power through grace, beauty, diplomacy or sweetness. Rules, regulations, and structure may give you a sense of comfort or stability. You are likely to enjoy status, to like being at the top. You may gain status through your relationships.

You can be practical about pleasures. You are working on the balance between effort and ease and might sometimes inhibit your pleasures (feeling you don't deserve to relax or haven't "earned" it yet). You may feel torn between family needs and duties and your desire to enjoy the world. Domestic duties or kin could make financial demands on you. Balancing partnership demands and family needs--along with career ambitions--could be a real challenge. Keep time and energy for each, recognizing that life is a juggling act. You get optimum satisfaction from being involved in the wider world in some tangible, achieving fashion.

Venus is trine the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Al-ubayyid, Sudan; Alexandria, Egypt; Istanbul, Turkey.

Your urge for comfort or ease may support nurturing figures. You can be affectionate toward parental figures and be pleasant in the parental role yourself. Your family is likely to contribute to your pleasure in life; sweetness may pervade interactions with family members. Your nurturing instincts may aid a drive for stability or predictability. Parental figures may assist you financially (or vice versa). You are likely to seek security in terms of money. Your home (or land, real estate, women, the public) may contribute to your financial base.

Your desire for pleasure may enhance your home environment. Beauty skills may enhance your home. Your protective instincts may strengthen your sensuality. Women may assist you in establishing a home. Pleasure-seeking could contribute to your home. Material goods and resources may enhance your home efforts. You can be moody in regard to pleasure-seeking. You are likely to enjoy family connections and seek to create more beauty and grace through and in your home.

Mars is opposite the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Mecca, Saudi Arabia; Medina, Saudi Arabia; Asmera, Ethiopia.

You can assert your authority directly and forthrightly, and probably feel a drive for power here. You may confront or anger authorities. You are apt to be ambitious in this area and may be impatient with regard to power issues. Irritation or temper could be an issue, especially with parents or with your own parenting instincts. Your need for action and self-assertion may pull you away from domestic duties and responsibilities. You have an urge to get "out of the house." You will tend to express yourself quite directly where issues of responsibility and reality-testing are concerned. You expect people to "take care of business."

You can be instinctively realistic and practical here, but are working on the blend between self-will, societal demands and domestic duties. One extreme is feeling blocked, frustrated or trapped by nurturing needs. You might feel inhibited, afraid to try for fear of frustration or not measuring up. The other extreme is trying to take everything on your shoulders, attempting to handle anything that comes up, or believing that you have a right to whatever you want. A happy medium is assertive accomplishment, where you confidently seek what you want within the "rules of the game" and balance your personal needs and desires with those of family members. Rather than feeling torn between independence and attachment, you allow both in your life. You form close emotional ties, but encourage freedom and individuality in those you love (and they in you).

Jupiter is opposite the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Agra, India; Bangalore, India; Delhi, India; Alma-ata, USSR.

You can be quite authoritative about ideals, goals and ethics. Authorities may influence your philosophy, religion or world view. You may place your faith in authority (power), or idealize status, control or expertise. You will have an instinct for making the most of your opportunities in this area. Your urge for expanded horizons may pull you away from home; you could feel torn between roots and adventure. You need space and openness within your family matrix.

You are learning to balance the ideal with the real, and optimism with pessimism. The challenge is neither to expect the impossible, nor to give up too soon on your dreams, especially where family and career are concerned. Reach for the best, but remember that everyone is human. Don't expect parenting figures to be perfect--nor demand too much of yourself as a parent. Breaking your goals into smaller steps can help you to actualize your visions in a practical form.

Saturn is conjunct the IC.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

This suggests meeting reality rather than nurturing. You are likely to rework old, familial (and familiar) issues about competence, support, and responsibility that go back to your family's attitudes when you were young.

The emotional tone is very serious and cautious here. Emotional and physical security are important. You may hold back emotionally for fear of not getting the support you feel you need. This combination emphasizes a parenting theme and it is essential for you to be able to BE taken care of as well as caring for others (taking turns nurturing and being nurtured).

Your emotional foundation and sense of adequacy are tied to a career or position in the community. Your professional role may affect your family situation (or you could work from your home, in a family business, with real estate, the land, the public, nurturing, etc.). You might feel pulled in two different career directions, or be unsure what profession you are willing to settle into. Perhaps you are ambivalent about taking an executive role or feel at odds with authorities. You might overdo or underdo your desire to solidify gains. Time management and responsibility (taking on too much or too little) could be career challenges. You may swing between two much and too little effort until you learn to balance.

You are apt to be very responsible toward family members now and may sometimes carry more than your share of the load. Your challenge is to balance work and home, dominance and dependency, compassion and realism, protecting and being protected.

Saturn is sextile the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city:
Bucharest, Romania.

Your sense of responsibility can contribute to your home. Your practicality can be an asset within your family. Your willingness to learn through doing may contribute to your emotional security. Your executive instincts may further your domestic accomplishments (and vice versa) Your discipline and willingness to work assist your family relations. Your ability to understand essential limits can contribute to your home. Your pragmatism may help you in your familial relationships.

Your sense of responsibility can strengthen your family ties. Nurturing figures may contribute to your home environment. Your willingness to work can enhance your family matrix. Your family may support your executive ambitions. People who depend on you may support your ambitions. You have a good sense of when to consolidate your gains. You can balance compassion and pragmatism.

Uranus is opposite the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities:
Riyadh, Saudi Arabia; Tabriz, Iran; Aden, Yemen; Tbilisi, USSR; Hargeysa, Somalia.

Authorities with whom you deal may seem eccentric or erratic. You can be unconventional in your approach to the outer world and societal rules and regulations. You might be detached or objective about your responsibilities. Your status may be different or unusual in some way. For you, in this place, power lies in freedom and independence.

Your drive for freedom and independence may pull you away from the home, toward the wider world. A transpersonal focus may seem appropriate. Perhaps your roots feel at odds with the pull of the future. Perhaps you are torn between nurturing needs and the desire to be unattached. Your intellect may vie with your emotions until you integrate them. Your individuality or uniqueness may not seem to fit easily into the family matrix, yet it is a great, creative gift that can enable you to discover alternative approaches to family clashes. You can demonstrate objectivity and encourage a broader viewpoint among those you love.

Neptune is opposite the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city:

Chittagong, Bangladesh.

You can blend the ideal and the real. You may seek a literal experience of infinity, of cosmic consciousness. You may want more than is possible vocationally. Beware lest your quest for the beautiful dream pull you away from family connections. "Heaven on Earth" does not exist; we are all working on some flaws. You need to manifest your quest for the great ideal through a helping and healing profession or through art and aesthetics. You are learning to create a positive channel for your magical, mystical side.

You may seek power through Oneness, through transcendent experiences. Authorities may appear idealistic, mystical, confused, compassionate, escapist or deceptive. Your status may be romanticized, idealized, hazy or unclear. Your challenge is to bring dreams into being in the world, while still retaining an appreciation of the best in those you love. Affirm and feed your family's highest potential while still retaining common sense and realism.

Neptune is trine the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities:
Amman, Jordan; Beirut, Lebanon; Jerusalem, Israel; Tel Aviv, Israel.

Art, beauty, magic, inspiration or dreams could assist you domestically. You can harness compassion and empathy on behalf of those you love. Visualization and imagination can enhance your home. Your mystical side may harmonize with nurturing figures. Parents may aid your quest for infinite love and beauty. Your capacity to see and imagine the best possibilities enables you to encourage the highest potential within family members. Intuition may assist your familial connections. Your family ties could be aided by your capacity to dream. You can combine idealism and caring and warmth.

Your home environment may be directed toward experiences of Oneness/Union. Compassion and a desire to help and heal may augment your family matrix. Magic, beauty, art or grace could enhance your home environment. Your ability to merge, to transcend could help to create close emotional ties. Your compassionate, caring, rescuing side contributes to your home. You know when to go with the flow in family relations; you may intuitively do the right thing without knowing why. Your family may feed and strengthen your faith and trust in the best. Your Inner Wisdom can enhance your handling of domestic matters.

Pluto is opposite the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities:
Amman, Jordan; Beirut, Lebanon; Jerusalem, Israel; Tel Aviv, Israel; Khartoum, Sudan; Port Said, Egypt.

You are likely to exhibit an intense drive for power, and being in control (of self and/or others) may be very important here. Your forceful, competitive side could be constructively channeled into business, law enforcement, the military, sports, games, politics or professions involving physical manipulation (e.g., chiropractic, massage). Do not channel your drive for power into your home. Family members will not appreciate having a dictator in the house. Find an outer world arena to focus your ambitious, driving side.

If you are uncomfortable with your power-oriented side, you may unconsciously attract authorities who are dominating, manipulative and dictatorial--until you reclaim your own power, mastery, and control in constructive uses.

You are capable of tremendous self-discipline and self-control and might limit your sensuality to gain a sense of self-mastery. You can be practical about sensual and sexual needs. You are working on the challenge of having enough control without too much. Addictions, excessive self-denial, or emotional manipulations could emerge with family members until a healthy level of sharing and equality is reached. Learning to let go might be a challenge. Obsessions or compulsions could emerge to be faced and mastered. You can be quite strong, enduring and resourceful here.

Pluto is trine the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Chittagong, Bangladesh.

Your intensity may contribute to your home environment. Your desire for power may strengthen your emotional foundation. Your organizational skills could aid your family connections. You have good endurance and followthrough for family matters. Children and mates may cooperate well together. Your self-discipline and self-control enhance your protectiveness. Your probing instincts could enhance your handling of family matters. Parents may encourage your confrontational skills. Compassion might enhance your dealing with shared resources and pleasures. You can be fiercely loyal to family (and vice versa).

Your mate may be supportive of your home. Nurturing figures may encourage your yen to dig beneath the surface. You are apt to value discipline and self-control within the home. You want to build things to LAST in the domestic arena. You may cope well in intensely emotional situations. You can be quite thorough, purposeful and organized when dealing with feelings. Your sensitivity can enhance your dealing with shared resources and pleasures. A mate could help out other family members.

Chiron is conjunct the IC.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

You may place a high value on home and family, yet simultaneously have the urge to leave home periodically for far horizons. You could take trips regularly, live on the road, have a communal household with many different people coming and going, or live in a foreign country. Your domestic environment is apt to be very mentally stimulating with lots of books, unusual people, or provocative discussions. It may be a challenge to fit your beliefs and principles into society's demands. You are likely to feel freedom versus closeness tugs around your nest. You may expect too much from your family members (and/or they from you). Shared goals, values and dreams help you to accept each other as human, while working toward a broader vision.

The urge to go beyond known boundaries may pull you away from conventional success, or your desire to take risks could separate you from authorities and positions of authority. It may seem difficult to get enough variety and mental challenges at work. Your idealistic visions may seem to work better in the home than in the vocational world; the challenge is to integrate your aspirations in both arenas.

Ceres is conjunct the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Herat, Afghanistan.

You are learning to balance caring and hard-nosed realism in this region. You might swing from being supernurturing to ultrapractical. A parenting archetype is highlighted; you might tend to play the caretaking role constantly, or seek someone to look after and parent you. You might work out of your home, make your home your vocation, bounce between family and career demands, or work in a family business. Your security lies in being efficient and productive; you can be quite practical and helpful.

You may allow a need to serve to overwhelm your good sense. You could do too much for others, especially if you succumb to the feeling that no one else will do things as well as you do. (The opposite extreme is seeking the support you feel you never got as a child--looking for a mothering type to protect and cherish you.) With a probable talent for repairs, improvements and fixing things up, a focus on health and healing might be quite important in your home (and in your life).

You can be quite organized and thorough in the home environment and may take on more than your share of family responsibilities. You are able to nurture in sensible ways.

Pallas is square the IC.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

Partners may be at odds with children (or vice versa). Equalitarian instincts may be at odds with the desire for control. A partner or partnership may compete with a parent or parenting duties. Parents (or parent figures) may seem at odds with fair play/justice. Aesthetic interests may clash with domestic necessities. Family demands may compete with your desire for balance. You may feel torn between feeling and observing. You may compare and contrast too much, putting off decisive action, or reacting too much to those around you.

You may feel torn between having a home and a committed partnership. Family needs may pull you away from artistic interests (and vice versa). Love needs/a partner may seem to separate you from other family members (and vice versa). You may compare, contrast, weigh alternatives a lot in your home life. You may be very artistic in your home environment.

Pallas is sextile the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Mashhad, Iran.

Your aesthetic ability could improve your domestic environment. Your feeling for beauty pours easily into your home. Your competitive instincts might advance your domestic achievements. Your capacity to compare and contrast could enhance your nest. Your caretaking instincts might assist your artistic endeavors. You may feel comfortable keeping up appearances. Nurturing figures may assist your social contacts and involvement with aesthetics.

Your partnerships may support your home. You know when to be an equal and when to be parental (or parented). Your sense of fair play contribute to harmony with family. You can be quite supportive to family (and they to you). You may have more empathy and a feeling for balance in this area. Partners may contribute to your domestic tranquility. Your partner may get along well with your family (and vice versa). Nurturing figures may help you to share. You can balance parenting duties and partnership duties. Your desire for justice can help you deal sensibly with family members. Your capacity to contrast and compare can assist your emotional ties.

Juno is conjunct the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Calcutta, India.

Emotional commitments may represent security to you and the drive for partnership is highlighted here (forming one or deepening an existing one). You may be very attached to family. You are learning to balance equalitarian instincts and parental drives, along with compromising between emotions and common sense.

You may be very artistic in your home environment, but could feel that aesthetic involvements pull you from worldly success. You need beauty, grace and harmony in your nest; they refresh you and support your spirits.

Competitive interactions or power struggles may affect your domestic life. Perhaps your desire for authority or the power needs of others seem incompatible with sharing resources fairly. Joint finances could affect your career aspirations. A mate or spouse may influence your ambitions. You might feel that emotional commitments pull you away from career demands (or vice versa). You are learning to balance your needs for love and work.

Juno is sextile the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Al-ubayyid, Sudan; Alexandria, Egypt.

Your emotional intensity may add depth to your home. Your competitive needs might advance your family connections. Your ability to look beneath the surface could enhance your family relations. Your compassion might assist your artistic endeavors and your aesthetic ability could aid your domestic aspirations. You may feel comfortable keeping up appearances. Nurturing figures may assist your social contacts and aesthetic involvements.

Your partner may support your home. You know when to be an equal and when to take care of others. Partners may cooperate well with children (and vice versa) or be of assistance to other family members. Your nurturing spirit might enhance your partnership(s). Parental figures may help you to share resources/finances. Your intimacy instincts can help you be successful within the family. Joint financial involvements may contribute to family safety.

Vesta is opposite the IC.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Kabul, Afghanistan; Hyderabad, Pakistan; Karachi, Pakistan.

You have the capacity for single-minded focus on success, but could also succumb to tunnel vision, sacrificing too much for desired end results. This area highlights responsibility, hard work, and a desire for tangible results from what you do. Some kind of productive work is important for your personal satisfaction here, but you may feel it pulls you away from domestic duties.

You could focus on health or healing. You might develop skills in science, business or any detail-oriented work. You may use organizational abilities. You can be more efficient, productive and practical here. You could fall into nitpicking or supercritical tendencies as you are oriented to fix, repair, and improve situations and people. Direct any flaw-finding tendencies toward physical chores--not family members. You may do more than your share, feeling you "have" to work, or not trusting others to do things correctly or well enough. If you push too hard, you might have health problems as the body's message to slow down and take a break. Don't fall into an indispensability trap. Let others do some of the work!

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Hyderabad, India; Bangalore, India.

You may face a challenge around self-esteem (too much or too little) here. A healthy sense of pride in yourself may be lacking (or too much egotism and arrogance might exist).

You could inhibit (or overdo) your funloving spirit, speculative or risk-taking side. You are learning to express your inner child in a constructive manner. You need positive excitement in your life now. You can be quite creative, but may hold back on your talents. You can be quite playful, joyful and confident, but may go overboard with your fiery impulses, or inhibit and "dampen down" your self-expression. Your challenge here is to be naturally expressive, constructively confident, and instinctively dramatic in ways which will add zest to your life.

The Sun is sextile the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Mashhad, Iran.

You can instinctively feed your self-esteem, through direct, assertive activities. Your personal action in this region flows naturally into being a star and achieving recognition. You are apt to have good vitality. Your leadership skills may increase; you find it easy to gain the respect of others. You can be magnetic and charismatic.

Your creative, funloving spirit is in focus. You may be attracted to excitement, speculation, risk-taking or play. You appreciate your inner child. You have good inner resources of confidence and enthusiasm.

The Moon is square the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Lahore, Pakistan.

Your personal needs may conflict with your drive to nurture in this region. You need to be yourself, yet still make caring connections to others. You may feel torn between independence and dependence, or between spontaneity and protectiveness. You might experience emotional swings, with a strong urge to express and pour out sometimes, and an urgent need to hold in and play it safe other times. You are capable of a great deal of emotional warmth here.

Some personal clashes with mother, mother figure or women are possible until you reach a balance between your liberty-loving and vulnerable sides. You can be active and receptive, physical and emotional, impulsive and a creature of habit. You need to establish close, caring ties without giving up your pioneering instincts, desire to be first and to express yourself.

The Moon is trine the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

You want very much to act in harmony with the needs of your family and people who depend upon you. You are instinctively seeking balance between self-assertion, dependency and nurturance. You probably appreciate your need for security and look for ways to further your attachments without sacrificing your independence.

You may be naturally receptive, concerned with issues of vulnerability, caretaking and emotional support in this region. You may seem moody as you can be cautious and inward, as well as direct and spontaneous. Many of your actions could be based on habit patterns; be sure you have built in positive habits. You are likely to feel strongly about protecting yourself and others.

Mercury is square the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Kathmandu, Nepal.

You can be quite quick-tongued, thinking on your feet, and could be sharp-tongued as well in this region. You might speak impulsively, blurting out what you later regret or act before thinking things through. Conflicts with others might revolve around communication: sarcasm and irony are possible, or an imbalance between listening and talking.

You are likely to be quite perceptive, flexible and adaptable here. Your personal desires may pull you away from logic and rational analysis, yet you can use them well when you choose. You may feel torn between learning through personal experience and activity, versus learning vicariously through conversation, books, media, etc. Both sources can add to your life. You are apt to seek stimulation from a variety of sources and need to constantly exercise your mind.

Mercury is sextile the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

You are apt to encourage communication. Thinking, talking, listening and exchanging information are in high focus for you here. You can be bright, witty and expressive. Curiosity is accentuated, with a restless drive to keep on learning.

You may be more perceptive, analytical and keenly aware of what is going on around you. You could be dextrous, flexible or good at working with your hands. You might become more ingenious, clever and adaptable.

You could be skilled at debate because your mental processes work more quickly. You can think on your feet, blending logic and action. You have the capacity to be objective about yourself as well as others.

Venus is square the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

Conflicts may arise with others around the handling of pleasure in your life. You might feel ambivalent about the degree of indulgence to allow yourself and others. You may be at odds with people close to you regarding comfort, ease, stability, resources, finances and possessions. Ownership might be a bone of contention.

Sensual pleasures could present challenges. You may not be able to gratify your immediate impulses. You might face challenges in handling your pursuit of pleasure from food, drink, possessions, money, etc. (either too much or not enough is possible).

You may feel torn between assertion and accommodation. You could feel caught between meeting your own needs versus pleasing others. Sweetness and diplomacy may vie with doing things YOUR way. A bit of both is advisable.

Venus is sextile the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Lahore, Pakistan.

Your immediate impulses tend toward pleasure-seeking in this region. You may be more sensual and attracted to material gratification. You probably appreciate stability and predictability, looking for a smooth, easy flow in life. You could be a bit indulgent (of self and/or others).

You might express yourself through tangible forms of beauty, making money, or collecting possessions. Your instincts flow toward physical resources and pleasures. You might beautify your personal appearance.

You can be charming, diplomatic and sweet. You are able to put people at ease and tend to focus on the positive in interactions. With peacemaking capacities highlighted, you could be easygoing and prefer to avoid any unpleasantness. You might compromise too much on occasion, but will be oriented toward creating harmony and balance.

Mars is square the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Mashhad, Iran.

You are likely to feel ambivalent regarding assertion, anger, and self-expression in this region. You could have flashes of temper, or hold back excessively from meeting your own needs. You may sabotage yourself, inhibiting natural reactions. Developing a healthy sense of personal power may be a challenge.

If you block or fight against your spontaneous instincts and needs, you could end up feeling drained and tired. You might battle your own desires. You could feel torn about how to express yourself, but having an avenue to channel your energy, vitality and independence is vital. Sports, games, business and competitive outlets could help you be strong, direct and face life in constructive ways. Your fighting spirit needs a positive channel lest it hit others or rebound internally against you. With an active, independent focus, you can be forthright, courageous and pioneering.

Mars is trine the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Bangalore, India.

You are probably willing to assert yourself in this region. You can act on your own needs and pursue your desires in life. You may be quite spontaneous, direct, courageous and independent. You operate well on your own in this area.

You might be a bit impatient, rash or easily irritated. Your fiery spirit needs a constructive physical outlet and competitive activities could also help channel your energy and drive. Because you know what you want, you are willing to act immediately to get it. You can be quite centered in the NOW. Enthusiastic, eager and lively, you are likely to be full of energy here.

Jupiter is square the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Lhasa, China; Dacca, Bangladesh; Calcutta, India.

You may feel torn between conflicting ideals, goals, values or beliefs. You might sometimes act against your better judgment while living here. By establishing a clear value hierarchy, you can sort out what matters most to you. By deciding what is more important, you can commit to some projects and drop others, rather than getting overextended by trying to do everything.

The expectations you hold for yourself could be a challenge; they might be too high (looking for the impossible dream) or too low ("perfect or nothing at all").

You may be too optimistic and rash, or afraid to trust and put your faith in the future. You are learning, through personal experience, to have enough faith to risk, try, and explore--but not so much faith as to expect everything to fall into your lap.

Conflicts with others around religion, philosophy, spirituality, morality and ethics are possible until you have a clear vision of your personal truth, values and basic assumptions about life.

Jupiter is sextile the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

This region accentuates your desire to act in support of your ideals and goals. Your personal action may further a philosophy, religion or spiritual quest. Your ideals affect what you do and how you see yourself. Moral probity and a high standard of ethics are probably important to you here. You may expect a lot of yourself, wanting to measure up to a high standard (but sometimes afraid your standard is TOO high). You truly want to be THE BEST, to do your best.

You are likely to be optimistic, confident and outgoing. Because you trust in the future, you are willing to take risks in seeking truth, wisdom and broadened horizons. You may view the world as an arena for growth and larger than life experiences. You can be quite generous, cheerful and possess a wide range of knowledge. You may instinctively make the most of your opportunities in this area.

Saturn is square the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

Clashes are possible in this area regarding issues of responsibility, power, practicality and control. You may feel torn between being a loner and taking charge. Your personal needs and desires may seem at odds with the demands of the world (especially authority figures) until you figure out a way to get what you want within the structure of society. You need to personally grasp the "rules of the game" and work practically within them.

You may experience periodic self-doubts and insecurities in this region, with a tendency to be too hard on yourself, measuring everything in terms of performance and tangible results. You are working on the balance between initiation and followthrough, between impulsivity and caution. A middle ground allow you to sidestep excessive inhibition as well as flying in the face of reality.

By backing your natural instincts with discipline and experience, you can accomplish a great deal, moving toward more status, authority and power in the world.

Saturn is trine the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Rawalpindi, Pakistan; Multan, Pakistan; Hyderabad, Pakistan; Karachi, Pakistan.

You are likely to direct your efforts toward a career and material success while living here. You are willing to "make it" the hard way, putting effort and discipline into making things real. You will tend to take yourself seriously and want to act with integrity and reliability. Responsibility is highlighted; you will seek long-term security.

You can direct energy conscientiously, with a sensible grasp of the "rules of the game." By working constructively within the limits of society and authorities, you can accomplish a great deal. You may receive assistance from a mentor, parent or authority figure. Time is on your side, as you truly get better and better with age now. You appreciate the wisdom of experience and learn through doing.

Uranus is square the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Tashkent, USSR.

Your innovative, inventive, freedom-loving streak is in high focus in this area. You might carry eccentricity or self-will too far, or you could be unsure how and where to express your individuality. Perhaps you feel that being independent clashes with your friendships, or your personal needs conflict with your humanitarian instincts. You may be torn between expressing your uniqueness through action or through the mind.

If you try to stifle your creative, expressive, restless side, you might unconsciously set yourself up for accidents from pent-up frustration and impatience. You need a constructive outlet for your desire for excitement, change, activity and stimulation.

Uranus is trine the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

This region highlights freedom, individuality, and inventiveness. You may encourage that in others as well as yourself. With an innovative bent accented, you can bring fresh perspectives to stale problems or situations. You may contact a wide variety of people, perhaps through groups, networking social causes, or a circle of very different friends.

You will be attracted by the future, with an optimistic tendency to believe that the best is yet to come. You appreciate novelty and variety more and are likely to seek much stimulation and excitement in this region. The new has more appeal than the old; you thrive on growth and change.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city:
Agra, India.

This area highlights acting on behalf of your visions, imagination, idealism or aesthetic creativity. You may literally move with beauty or strive to be compassionate, empathic, or gentle in your self-expression.

Your faith or capacity to merge with something Higher in life nourishes your sense of identity and willingness to be who you are. You can appreciate Union, while retaining personal individuality. Your yearning for infinite love and beauty may tempt you toward escapism if the "real world" seems imperfect or ugly. Or, you might fall into savior/victim (rescuer/enabler) scripts, seeking to be everything to someone, or expecting another to bring you "heaven on earth."

You can be quite sensitive, intuitive, and graceful here. Music, art, nature, and spiritual activities increase your physical vitality and nourish your ability to take direct, expressive action.

Pluto is square the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities:
Tehran, Iran; Abadan, Iran; Addis Ababa, Ethiopia; Jima, Ethiopia.

You are likely to face issues of self-mastery and the handling of power in this region. You may feel torn between asserting your own personal power and sharing the power with others, especially in intimate contexts. This area highlights intense emotions, but you may feel unsure of how much you are willing to reveal to the world.

You are working on the balance between independence and intimacy--expressing yourself as a loner and making a deep, emotional commitment to someone else. Anger, resentment, control issues and manipulation may have to be faced with others, particularly if you do not have a constructive channel (e.g., sports, games, business, military, law enforcement) for your own forceful, driving side.

Probing instincts are in high focus; you need to look beneath the surface, to uncover what is hidden. This could lead to self-analysis as well as a desire to understand other people's motives and drives. You could sometimes feel pulled between a spontaneous, free, open, flow and a controlled, disciplined focus. You are capable of being quite loyal, dedicated, disciplined, resourceful and thorough.

Pluto is trine the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities:
Delhi, India; Agra, India; Bombay, India.

Your emotions are apt to be more intense in this region. Self-mastery probably appeals to you, but you may experience extremes (feast versus famine) in your handling of food, alcohol, money, and pleasures. Sexual and sensual drives are likely to be marked, yet you wish control as well as indulgence.

You will be drawn toward an intimate connection with a mate, and have the ability to share well. By acknowledging your independence and need for control as well as your mate's, you can work out reasonable compromises and opportunities to take turns taking charge.

You will want your personal actions to probe, to dig out secrets, to uncover what is hidden, to get to the bottom of things. This region highlights investigative urges, so you may wish to illuminate, clarify and transform your own inner motives as well as those of other people.

Chiron is square the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

The urge to know and do MORE in life is in high personal focus in this region. If carried to an extreme, you may constantly seek new knowledge, new stimulation and new adventures. You could overdo risk-taking and the quest for ultimate answers. No matter what you do, you might want more, or better, or faster. Perhaps you are impossible to please, aiming for an infinitely high standard of behavior. Who you feel you ARE may be at odds with who you feel you SHOULD BE. Expectations could be overdone.

The other extreme is to deny this restless, curious side of your nature, refusing it an outlet. Rather than questioning, or studying, or wondering, or searching, you try to tie things down, establish absolutes, settle for the known and secure.

By blending the best of both, you can live with change, enjoy new experiences, learn lifelong and constantly seek to expand your base of understanding, while still able to enjoy the process and to appreciate perfection as a goal rather than as an end result.

Chiron is trine the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

This region accentuates your desire to seek the truth, and an urge to expand your horizons. Whether drawn toward religion, education, travel or other adventurous, exploratory activities, you will thrive in an atmosphere of intellectual stimulation and going beyond traditional limits.

You need to act on behalf of high ideals and may be seeking perfection (perhaps demanding too much from yourself, other people or life in general). You can enjoy experimenting and taking risks; you are eager to increase freedom on many levels.

Chiron is sextile the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities:
Kathmandu, Nepal; Madras, India.

See previous aspect for interpretation

Ceres is square the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city:
Agra, India.

You are capable of being dedicated and helpful, but may feel torn between immediate desires and work routines. You might flip between doing your own thing and being productive. You might overdo or underdo competence urges. Perhaps you feel there is not room for you to express yourself and still be competent in your work. Perhaps your desire for spontaneity conflicts with work routines, or impatience competes with your capacity for analysis.

If you overdo a focus on performance and getting things "right," health issues are possible, especially in regard to your energy level. You need to function efficiently in your work and health, but could be too hard on yourself.

Conflicts with nurturing figures or with children are possible until you achieve a balance between personal needs and your caretaking instincts. You might sometimes feel a "forced choice" between doing what you want and taking care of the needs of others. You can be highly effective as well as warm and supportive.

Ceres is trine the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities:
Esfahan, Iran; Riyadh, Saudi Arabia; Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

You may personally support nurturing, caretaking activities in this region. You could express through a "mother earth" role, or receive assistance and support from family members. A mothering figure might help you get what you want in life.

Your energy goes toward productivity and getting the job done. You may become active in supporting health, improvement, efficiency and competence. Your immediate impulses probably sway toward being practical and helpful. You may be more skilled at analysis or handling details and could increase your talent for nutrition, healing or craftsmanship.

Pallas is conjunct the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

Your drive for equality is in high focus here. You may be willing to fight for fair play, for justice, and for balance and even-handedness. This could include a competitive streak that is best directed to sports, games, business or fighting for causes. (It is not advisable to compete in relationships intended to be cooperative.)

You may get very personally involved with aesthetic or artistic endeavors. You could develop a talent for art or for creating beauty. You may be more sensitive to line, form, balance and harmony--particularly visual or graphic arts such as photography, design, decorating, architecture, painting, etc. You may increase your physical grace or attractiveness.

You are apt to identify with relationships, to learn about yourself through interactions with others. Having a partner is more important to you here; you make it a priority. You are working on the balance between personal and interpersonal needs. The challenge is to share the power equally with someone else, neither demanding everything on your terms, nor giving in totally to someone else's preferences. Taking turns will help to keep a balance.

Pallas is sextile the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities:
Asmera, Ethiopia; Gonder, Ethiopia.

You are likely to act on behalf of balance, justice, harmony or beauty. You could become more physically graceful or involved in active forms of aesthetics. You might fight for fair play or equal opportunity in this area.

You can relate well to people, having an instinctive appreciation of other people's viewpoints. You enjoy the give-and-take in relationships. Cooperation as well as competition offer forums for you to express yourself and interact with others. You can be quite just, equalitarian and objective in this region.

Juno is square the Ascendant.

No major cities are close to the line of this aspect.

Some tension in relationships is likely here, as you work toward balance with others. You may feel torn between your drive for independence and your desire for marriage or some kind of partnership. What you want may be at odds with a partner's desires and needs. Being able to share sensually, sexually and financially with a mate is suggested as a primary field of learning and growth.

Incorporating beauty into your life may be difficult. You need an aesthetic or artistic outlet, but may clash with others over issues of appearance, harmony or balance. Self-assertion may compete with grace and charm. Putting beauty into motion (dancing, diving, skiing, etc.) or being personally active in creating beauty is affirming for you.

You need people contacts, but must practice sharing the power with a mate--neither giving away all the power nor demanding all control be in your own hands. Joint efforts work best.

Juno is trine the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following city: Ahmadabad, India.

You are likely to seek interactions with others, and harmony with a partner (e.g., spouse) is quite possible. Your instinctive grasp of the ebb-and-flow in relationships is highlighted; you understand the need for compromise and taking turns with each other. You have a knack for maintaining independence within the context of a deep, emotional tie. Intimacy nourishes you.

Your energy flows easily into aesthetic activities (especially on the visual level). Your eye for line, form, color or balance may become increasingly skilled. Grace and charm are accentuated here.

Vesta is square the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Nagpur, India; Hyderabad, India; Bangalore, India.

You can be quite hardworking, efficient and productive here, but might be too concerned with finding flaws or with personal performance. You may fall into nitpicking (at yourself and/or others) or be overly critical, demanding that everything be "just so."

You can initiate as well as carry through, but may sometimes feel torn between an urge for immediate action versus your desire to analyze, organize and deal with myriad details. If you put too much pressure on yourself to perform "properly," health challenges are possible. You are working toward optimal functioning in your body and on the job, constantly striving toward improvement. You could have talent for repairs with a "fix-it" attitude in many areas.

Tension with colleagues is possible if your drive to enhance things leads to excessive judgment or criticism--or if you feel only you can do things right. An alternative is being unwilling to work, except on your own terms--when, where and how you wish! Generally, you can be quite dedicated, efficient, and thorough, applying personal concentration, effort and competence.

Vesta is sextile the Ascendant.

The aspect is close to exact for the following cities: Mashhad, Iran; Aden, Yemen; Hargeysa, Somalia.

Your personal action flows into efficient functioning--on the body and in the job. You are motivated to do things well, to achieve tangible results in the world. You can be dedicated, hardworking, sensible and painstaking in this region.

You may be drawn to regimes which improve your health, or could be active in fields of nutrition, healing, crafts, repairs, etc. Your instinct for finding flaws is accented and may help you to decide what will enhance the situation. You can act with thoroughness and planning.
